If you do not have a preference, do not panic! We have listed the advantages and disadvantages of the main accommodation options available to students:

- University Residence, if you are going to live outside home for the first time, this option can give you security and the relief of not having to think about anything;
- Students hall, this option is similar to university residences, but has the great advantage that you can expand your social circles, since you can find students from other universities;
- Own private apartment, this is your option if you are looking for independence and the freedom to live as you want, in your own space away from all others;
- Host families. Living with a host family has several benefits: people are great! You will be able to practice the local language, and you will live as one of them;
- Room in a shared apartment. This option is the best if you want a combination of all the above options: sharing a place with other students may be the best thing you can do in your new experience away from home.
